

The Journal OF THE House of Representatives

Number 5

Wednesday, January 22, 2020

The House was called to order by the Speaker at 3:30 p.m.

Prayer

The following prayer was offered by Rabbi Jonah Fein of Brauser Maimonides Academy in Hollywood, upon invitation of Rep. Fine:

God Almighty, we are so grateful for the opportunities You provide us each and every day to make a difference in the world. We come to You in prayer with humility and awe from the chambers of Your servants, the Governor and the great leaders of this capitol, who not only dedicate their lives to public service for the citizens of this great state, but who also help America shine as a beacon of light onto the nations of the world. Guide us to fulfill Your will, and grant us wisdom to continue helping the great state of Florida with policies that help all of those we serve.

Though in our pursuit of progress and achievement we may falter and stumble, You provide unconditional love and support, Your path a shining light for our journey together as a state and as a nation. Heavenly Father, we are Your children who are all beloved and equal in Your eyes. While we often differ in our perspectives, we pray that You provide inspiration that unites us in our shared purpose and values, ensuring each citizen's right to peace, liberty, and justice in pursuit of happiness, quality of life, and freedom for their religious practice, protecting those who are most vulnerable against hatred, prejudice, and terror in all of its dangerous forms. As the great Dr. Martin Luther King once said, "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere," and providing the very best for each of our children by ensuring they have access to high-quality education that meets their unique, individual needs. Lord, help us impress upon our youth, who are both our future and our present and model for them that nothing is impossible when we work together to achieve the impossible.

My late great-grandfather Irving Bunim fought tirelessly to ensure that Jewish educational institutions can flourish in America during and after the Holocaust, when all hope seemed lost. As a headmaster myself now, I recognize that the physical and emotional safety of our children can never be taken for granted.

I'd like to thank Representative Randy Fine for the opportunity to be here today. Representative Fine is a dear friend, an active leader who has visited our schools and spoken to our families. He is a man of impeccable character, honesty, and commitment, and he plays an integral leadership role looking out for the citizens of the state of Florida. Thank you, Representative Fine, for being a champion for safe Jewish schools, along with every member of this chamber who puts the security of all of our students in Florida as a top priority.

Lord, continue to watch over the people of the state of Florida and protect us from all danger and harm so our families can live freely and safely in pursuit of their dreams.

I'd like to close with a Biblical Hebrew priestly prayer, one that has become universal, and one that I feel honored to bestow as a member of the priestly tribe of Kohanim, myself. May the Lord bless you and watch over you. May the Lord cause His countenance to shine to you and favor you. And may the Lord raise His countenance toward you and grant you shalom, peace. Let us all say Amen.

HJR 301—A joint resolution proposing amendments to Section 5 of Article II and Section 5 of Article XI and the repeal of Section 2 of Article XI of the State Constitution to delete the establishment, membership selection and composition, and duties of the Constitution Revision Commission.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the following amendments to Section 5 of Article II and Section 5 of Article XI and the repeal of Section 2 of Article XI of the State Constitution are agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this state for approval or rejection at the next general election or at an earlier special election specifically authorized by law for that purpose:

ARTICLE II

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 5. Public officers.—

(a) No person holding any office of emolument under any foreign government, or civil office of emolument under the United States or any other state, shall hold any office of honor or of emolument under the government of this state. No person shall hold at the same time more than one office under the government of the state and the counties and municipalities therein, except that a notary public or military officer may hold another office, and any officer may be a member of a ~~constitution revision commission~~, taxation and budget reform commission, constitutional convention, or statutory body having only advisory powers.

(b) Each state and county officer, before entering upon the duties of the office, shall give bond as required by law, and shall swear or affirm:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, protect, and defend the Constitution and Government of the United States and of the State of Florida; that I am duly qualified to hold office under the Constitution of the state; and that I will well and faithfully perform the duties of...(title of office)... on which I am now about to enter. So help me God.", and thereafter shall devote personal attention to the duties of the office, and continue in office until a successor qualifies.

(c) The powers, duties, compensation and method of payment of state and county officers shall be fixed by law.

ARTICLE XI

AMENDMENTS

SECTION 5. Amendment or revision election.—

(a) A proposed amendment to or revision of this constitution, or any part of it, shall be submitted to the electors at the next general election held more than ninety days after the joint resolution or ~~report of revision commission~~, constitutional convention or taxation and budget reform commission ~~proposal~~ ~~proposing~~ it is filed with the custodian of state records, unless, pursuant to law enacted by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of the membership of each house of the legislature and limited to a single amendment or revision, it is submitted at an earlier special election held more than ninety days after such filing.

(b) A proposed amendment or revision of this constitution, or any part of it, by initiative shall be submitted to the electors at the general election provided the initiative petition is filed with the custodian of state records no later than February 1 of the year in which the general election is held.

(c) The legislature shall provide by general law, prior to the holding of an election pursuant to this section, for the provision of a statement to the public regarding the probable financial impact of any amendment proposed by initiative pursuant to section 3.

(d) Once in the tenth week, and once in the sixth week immediately preceding the week in which the election is held, the proposed amendment or revision, with notice of the date of election at which it will be submitted to the electors, shall be published in one newspaper of general circulation in each county in which a newspaper is published.

(e) Unless otherwise specifically provided for elsewhere in this constitution, if the proposed amendment or revision is approved by vote of at least sixty percent of the electors voting on the measure, it shall be effective as an amendment to or revision of the constitution of the state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January following the election, or on such other date as may be specified in the amendment or revision.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the following statement be placed on the ballot:

House Resolutions Adopted by Publication

At the request of Rep. Fitzenhagen—

HR 8005—A resolution designating January 28, 2020, as "Florida Gulf Coast University Day" in Florida.

WHEREAS, in May 1991, then-Governor Lawton Chiles signed into law a bill passed by the Florida Legislature authorizing the creation of Florida's tenth public university, Florida Gulf Coast University (FGCU), to provide higher education opportunities and workforce development in the previously underserved region of Southwest Florida, and

WHEREAS, FGCU opened its doors to students on August 25, 1997, and held its first commencement in May 1998 with 81 graduates, and

WHEREAS, FGCU has been led by four outstanding and dynamic presidents: President Roy McTarnaghan, President William C. Merwin, President Wilson G. Bradshaw, and President Michael V. Martin, and

WHEREAS, with the leadership and vision of Dr. Michael V. Martin and the FGCU Board of Trustees, FGCU students have a clear pathway to success and the university is committed to maintaining college affordability, and

WHEREAS, FGCU's top priority is student success, which includes a strong focus on providing the necessary academic resources and laboratory facilities to timely complete degrees from one of the five colleges providing relevant programs with an accomplished faculty and dedicated staff to help students prepare for successful careers and meet regional and statewide workforce needs, and

WHEREAS, FGCU has strategically grown into a regional university of 15,000 students and today offers 58 undergraduate, 25 graduate, and 6 doctoral programs, and

WHEREAS, FGCU's pathways to student success have led to achieving national prominence in academics, environmental sustainability, and student service learning, with approximately 3 million hours contributed to the Southwest Florida community since 1997, and

WHEREAS, FGCU emphasizes innovative and interdisciplinary learning, using the region as a living laboratory while offering students diverse opportunities to participate in meaningful research led by their professors, and

WHEREAS, breaking ground on a new academic building in November 2019, FGCU has established a home for The Water School, a University of Distinction program that will provide FGCU the foundation to become a leader in the area of water, focusing on issues to address challenges throughout the world, and

WHEREAS, FGCU has established the School of Entrepreneurship, bringing students from all disciplines together to develop products and business plans in a real-world setting, which was recognized by the Princeton Review as the best such school in Florida and thirtieth in the nation, and

WHEREAS, FGCU strives to bring diversification of the economy to the region it serves through innovation in agribusiness, construction management, hydrology, environmental engineering, and public health, and

WHEREAS, FGCU serves and engages its surrounding community, offering a wealth of enrichment opportunities that include the FGCU Research Roadshow, visual arts, music, theater, and public radio and television, and

WHEREAS, FGCU's athletics programs continue to be a growing source of pride for their loyal fans with student-athletes continuing to demonstrate their academic strengths, and

WHEREAS, the collegiate experience continues to enrich the lives of FGCU students and serve the surrounding community through "The FGCU Effect" and the university's longstanding commitment to promoting racial, ethnic, and cultural diversity on campus, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Florida:

That January 28, 2020, is designated as "Florida Gulf Coast University Day" in Florida.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be presented to Michael V. Martin, Ph.D., president of Florida Gulf Coast University as a tangible token of the sentiments expressed herein.

At the request of Rep. Eagle—

HR 8007—A resolution acknowledging the 50th anniversary celebration of the City of Cape Coral.

WHEREAS, founded in 1957 and incorporated on August 18, 1970, Cape Coral is the second largest city in the state by area and among the top ten largest by population, and

WHEREAS, accessible to the Caloosahatchee River and the Gulf of Mexico, Cape Coral is a waterfront wonderland with over 400 miles of canals, more than any other city in the world, and

WHEREAS, Cape Coral is home to approximately 1,000 nesting pairs of the Florida species of burrowing owl, the largest population of these federally protected birds in the state, and

WHEREAS, in 2019, Cape Coral was the highest-ranked Florida city in a study of the happiest cities in America, and

WHEREAS, Cape Coral will be commemorating the 50th anniversary of its incorporation this year, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Florida:

That the residents of the City of Cape Coral are heartily congratulated upon the occasion of the 50th anniversary celebration and are extended sincere wishes for an increasingly bright and happy future.

Excused

Rep. Beltran

Adjourned

Pursuant to the motion previously agreed to, the House adjourned at 4:40 p.m., to reconvene at 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, January 29, 2020, or upon call of the Chair.

JOINT SESSION

On January 14, 2002 at 11 a.m., pursuant to SCR 1180, the members of the Senate, escorted by the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate and the Sergeant at Arms of the House, were seated in the Chamber. The President and President Pro Tempore joined the Speaker and Speaker pro tempore at the rostrum. The Secretary joined the Clerk at the front desk.

Arrival of the Lieutenant Governor and Cabinet

The Lieutenant Governor Jeanette M. Nuñez, and Cabinet members Attorney General Ashley Moody, Chief Financial Officer Jimmy Patronis, and Commissioner of Agriculture and Consumer Services Nicole "Nikki" Fried, were escorted into the Chamber by the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate and seated.

Arrival of Supreme Court

Chief Justice Charles T. Canady, Justice Ricky Polston, Justice Jorge Labarga, Justice Alan Lawson, and Justice Carlos G. Muñiz, were escorted into the Chamber by the Sergeant at Arms of the House and seated.

The Speaker presented the gavel to the Honorable Bill Galvano, President of the Senate, asking him to preside over the Joint Session.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE PRESIDING

A quorum of the Joint Session was declared present.

Prayer

The following prayer was offered by the Honorable Mel Ponder:

Good morning, Lord. Thank You for the gift You give us daily to walk in Your presence. This new year, this new decade, may Your peace reign in this place, may it reign in this state. For, Lord, You are both welcome and needed here.

Today, Lord, may we first honor You, knowing as we commit whatever we do unto You that You will establish our plans. May the year be crowned with Your goodness, so that later, looking back, we would see a path dripping with Your abundance.

We give You thanks, Lord, for our godly leadership in this state, for Governor DeSantis' Cabinet, President Galvano, Speaker Oliva, our Supreme Court. Lord, bless and fill their cups. May their wisdom become a ceaseless supply from You. May they be blessed in their coming in and their going out. May Your protection surround them so that no weapon formed against them shall prosper. Under their leadership may our state be a state of righteousness, peace, and joy.

Today, Lord, we humbly ask in the decisions that we will make that You would raise us up, fill us up, and send us out. Raise us up to see ourselves the way You see us: fearfully, wonderfully made. Stir our hearts to pray for one another, cheer for one another, bless one another, knowing one word of encouragement can change someone's life. Fill us up to know the love of our Lord surpasses knowledge, that we may be filled with all the fullness of God, knowing that the gift and call of God is irrevocable. Send us out, for we are salt and light.

What comes forth from these chambers not only affects this state, but every person who comes through our gates. So anoint our gates so that people experience You. May they experience family met with honor. Bless our first responders, Lord, and military, those called into harm's way.

Finally, Lord, help us to know that the spirit, Your spirit, is upon us because You have anointed us to be distributors of good news. Help us to pray and think generationally, as You did with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, that Florida will become Your state of hope, for hope rises, darkness trembles. May this place become a priority to come together in unity, knowing that a house, a city, and a state divided cannot stand. Hurt our heart, Lord, for what hurts Yours. Grant us Your kingdom insights to today's questions, so that what we legislate reflects the goodness of God.

Now may Your kingdom come, Your will be done today, as You raise us up, fill us up, and send us out. Lord, deliver us and this state from evil. Protect and heal our land. We honor and bless and give You thanks for the year ahead, Lord, for You are good. We love You, Lord. Fill this day, our cups, and this year with Your glory. We ask all this in Your name. And everybody said Amen.

Pledge

The members, led by the following, pledged allegiance to the Flag: Senate President Pro Tempore David Simmons and House Speaker pro tempore MaryLynn "ML" Magar.

Committee to the Governor

On motion by Rep. Renner, the President appointed Senators Hutson (Co-Chair), Broxson, Stewart, Taddeo, and Wright, and on behalf of the Speaker, appointed Representatives Burton (Co-Chair), Antone, Duran, Killebrew, and Sirois as a joint committee to notify the Governor that the Legislature had assembled to receive his message. The committee, accompanied by the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate, retired to execute its responsibility.

Introduction of Special Guests

President Galvano recognized the following guests: First Lady of the Florida House, Jeanne Oliva; and First Lady of the Florida Senate, Julie Galvano.

Recessed

The Joint Session stood in informal recess at 11:14 a.m., to reconvene upon call of the Chair.

Reconvened

The Joint Session was called to order by President Galvano at 11:19 a.m.

Presentation of the Governor

Upon announcement by the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate, the committee escorted Governor DeSantis to the rostrum.

President Galvano presented Governor DeSantis.

President Galvano introduced the First Lady of Florida, Casey DeSantis.

Governor's Address

Governor DeSantis: Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the House and Senate, and fellow citizens, the Constitution requires me to inform the Legislature concerning the condition of the state and to recommend measures in the public interest. And it brings me great satisfaction to report on the promising prospects of our public affairs and to commend the members of the House and Senate for your efforts to make Florida successful.

Florida's unemployment rate is near a historic low. We have a triple-A credit rating. Florida's public university system is ranked number one in the nation. We're ranked one of the top states in the nation for fiscal health. Florida's crime rate is at an almost fifty-year low. And we have no state income tax.

Now it's said that the only things certain in life are death and taxes, but I'd like to suggest that we append just a little asterisk to that statement here in Florida. No, I'm not going to promise we can ever forestall Father Time, but we can say with certainty that we won't have an income tax here in the state of Florida, or a death tax for that matter.

Now last session was productive on a number of fronts, and I want to thank Speaker Jose Oliva and President Bill Galvano for their strong and dedicated leadership. I would also like to recognize our Lieutenant Governor, Jeanette Nuñez, who has led on key issues ranging from health care to aerospace. Thank you for your leadership, Jeanette.

And as the President has already indicated, we are joined here today by a great First Lady for the state of Florida and my wife, Casey. Casey has spearheaded her Hope for Healing initiative to tackle problems facing Floridians in the areas of mental health and substance abuse. She is making a difference, and she is only just getting started. We are both looking forward to big things in 2020, including a new baby daughter arriving a couple weeks after the session ends. And that will make it three kids, ages three years or under, running around the Governor's Mansion. Chaos will officially reign supreme in our household. I can't tell you for sure how that chaos might affect any vetoes I might issue, but stay tuned.

Now in 2019 we took bold steps to expand educational opportunities, protect our environment and natural resources, reform health care, invest in infrastructure, and bolster public safety, all while reducing taxes and maintaining healthy budget reserves. While we should look with favor on these bold beginnings, we have much more to do. For everything there is a season, and at the start of this new decade, this is Florida's season of opportunity. We have the chance to build on a strong foundation, the chance to face the challenges before us, and the chance to leave a legacy of success that will benefit our people now and in the future. If we work together during our season of opportunity, we can ensure that Florida works for our fellow citizens. Now this will require a lot of toil and sweat and will require not just words but deed. We can't rest on past accomplishments. Our only easy day was yesterday. Now Florida must remain steadfast in its commitment to low taxes and fiscal responsibility. For which of you intending to build the tower does not at first count the cost? We live in an increasingly mobile and interconnected time. States cannot tax, regulate, and spend with impunity without significant negative consequences. Taxpayers flee, businesses relocate, the economic base narrows, and the state inevitably hemorrhages money. Rinse and repeat.

According to IRS figures, Florida has lead the nation for six consecutive years in the amount of income, totaling tens of billions of dollars, being brought to our state due to internal migration. People are voting with their feet, and they're leaving states with bad economic climates for the greener economic pastures of the Sunshine State. And we have the good fortune to be attracting investment in business activity and a good potential for further growth in areas such as aerospace, financial services, health care, and manufacturing. To realize this potential, Florida needs to tax lightly, spend wisely, and regulate reasonably. Maintaining fiscal health will provide the type of durable foundation required for the expansion of our economic base, which means more opportunities for the citizens of Florida.

When I took office last year, I issued a sweeping executive order outlining a bold approach to protecting our natural resources, improving water quality, and restoring the Everglades. And I did so in part because I believe that stewardship of our natural resources is key to our economic well-being. Our water is the foundation of our tourism industry, makes Florida the top fishing and boating destination in the world, and enhances our property values.

Now this vision required a commitment from the Legislature, and I want to say, you delivered to the tune of more than 625 million dollars to support water resources in Everglades restoration projects. And because Florida showed that it had skin in the game, we were able to get support from the Trump administration for another 200 million dollars for Everglades restoration. Ditto getting federal support for raising the Tamiami Trail. Now key water projects are proceeding at pace, including the EAA reservoir, which many of you worked on, which will be a welcome relief to so many Floridians who have been negatively impacted by things like toxic blue-green algae. We're even on offense against the epidemic of non-native Burmese pythons that have ravaged the wildlife in the Everglades. We actually have two folks here from Southwest Florida, Geoff and Robbie Roepstorff. They're actually successful bankers but they also double as python hunters. Where are you guys at? They can take a bow. Now they and others, including more than over 500 people, who are registered now for our ongoing Python Bowl, are helping to protect Florida's native wildlife by removing these voracious predators from the Everglades.

Florida is in the process of realizing a vision with respect to our environment and natural resources that's been widely desired but stubbornly elusive. We have strong momentum and we need to keep it going. I think we can keep it going by addressing three major areas. First, we should fund water resource projects at the 625-million-dollar level on a recurring basis for the next three years. This will provide needed certainty for these key initiatives and will help us leverage even more federal support. Second, the Legislature should pass the comprehensive water quality legislation that I proposed. The bill represents the initial recommendations of our Blue-Green Algae Task Force that I launched upon taking office. It's based on sound science and provides a road map to reducing nutrients in our water. Third, those that spew untreated wastewater into Florida's water bodies need to be deterred from doing so by appropriate penalties. Too many municipalities have failed to invest in needed upgrades to their water infrastructure in part because it's cheaper to violate the law and pay a nominal fine. This is unacceptable, and it needs to change.

Now we at the state level will also be doing our part to fortify our infrastructure in our areas most vulnerable to increased flooding and rising seas. Over the coming months, our Division of Emergency Management and Department of Economic Opportunity will be distributing more than a billion dollars in mitigation funds to areas impacted by the hurricanes over the last several years. The bottom line is we have a chance to take bold action to make a lasting, positive impact upon Florida's environment. Let's seize this opportunity.

Now over the past year, my administration has been focused on education, and for good reason. Low taxes and a healthy business climate are important in attracting investment to Florida, but so, too, is our ability to produce topflight talent through our colleges and universities, through workforce education opportunities, and through a strong K through 12 schools. Florida has the top-ranked public university system in the nation, and we have three universities now in the top 50: University of Florida is in the top 10, heading for the top five; Florida State is in the top 20, heading for the top 15; and USF is in the top 50, heading for the top 25. After watching the game last night knowing Florida is going to host next year's national championship, I hope that maybe we have a Florida team playing in the national championship again. So there's no question that Florida is cultivating the talent needed to power our economy to new horizons. Let's keep it going, and let's do even better.

Traditional four-year universities aren't the only way to acquire advanced knowledge or skills though, and for many, it's not even the best way. Thanks to the leadership of our Commissioner of Education, Richard Corcoran, we've launched an initiative to make Florida the nation's leader in workforce education by the year 2030. Thanks to your support, we're off to a good start. You look around the state, vocational education is making a comeback in our high schools. In students and districts such as Miami-Dade can graduate high school with industry certifications in fields like electrical and HVAC. Apprenticeship programs also offer a great way to equip Floridians with skills that merit gainful employment. It was either Benjamin Franklin or someone ... or an ancient Confucian philosopher who once said—I was not able to figure out which one said this—but I think the thought is good, "Tell me and I forget, teach me and I remember, involve me and I learn." Once Floridians acquire skills, it is important that they be allowed to employ those skills without unnecessary barriers placed in their way by government. Florida's occupational licensing regime too often hinders upward mobility, oftentimes for low-income workers because so much of the regime is based not on the legitimate goal of protecting public health and safety, but on keeping people out, creating a guild that benefits insiders at the expense of those seeking to enter, many times, moderate-income professions ranging from hairdressing to interior design. Our citizens shouldn't need a permission slip from government in order to earn a living. We have a good reform bill in this regard pending before the Legislature. It made it to the one-yard line last year. Let's punch it in the end zone in 2020.

Our low-income workers also shouldn't have their wages depressed by cheap foreign labor. Ensuring a legal workforce through E-Verify will be good for the rule of law, it will protect taxpayers, and will place an upward pressure on the wages of Floridians who work in blue collar jobs. We are a state that has an economy, not the other way around, and we need to make sure that our Florida citizens from all walks of life come first.

Now, our approach to K through 12 education rests on three main components: number one, recruiting and retaining great teachers in the classroom; two, promoting educational choice of parents, particularly our low-income parents can place their child in a good school; and, three, measuring results through accountability. Now, I'm recommending that we take the bold step of setting up minimum salary for public school teachers at 47,500 dollars. That will bring Florida from the bottom-half of states to number two in the nation. This will make it easier for us to get talented college graduates to enter the profession and will help us retain many of the good teachers we have now. Now, my plan will lead to a substantial pay increase for over 100,000 current teachers throughout the state, and we have two of those teachers here in the Chamber with us today. Lindsay Beam is a sixth grade math teach at Blountstown Middle School, and Melissa Pappas is a teacher at Brookshire Elementary in Orange County who works with autistic students. Both are highly effective, award-winning teachers who will see salary increases of between five and ten thousand dollars under my plan. Thank you for your service.

We are also proposing to replace the Best and Brightest bonus program with a new initiative that will be more equitable and more generous, so that we can reward our strong-performing teachers and principals. My proposal places an emphasis on bonuses for teachers and principals in Title I schools with bonuses available of up to 7,500 dollars for teachers and up to 10,000 dollars for principals. These initiatives will build on the successes that we enjoyed in 2019.

Now last year, we faced the prospect of thousands of Florida families toiling on waiting lists for various scholarship programs that we supported throughout the state, and standing here last year I asked you to act, and the Legislature delivered. So joining us today are Brittney and Jeremy Wilson. They have a son with unique abilities, Josiah, who is on the waitlist for our Gardiner Scholarship program. Stand up and be recognized. There they are. Now, thanks to our work in 2019, last year's waitlist was cleared and the Wilsons were able to get Josiah on a scholarship so that his educational needs can be met. Last year we also had nearly 13,000 low-income families on the waiting list for a tax credit scholarship. Thanks to the enactment of the new Family Empowerment Scholarship, these families have been liberated from that waiting list. We have in the Chamber with us, Talethia Edwards, a mother of seven who lives right here in Tallahassee. There's her kids right there. And because of your efforts, three of her children with her today are now using this new scholarship program, so thank you for stepping up for Talethia and other mothers like her all around the state. And the bottom line is all Florida parents, regardless of income or zip code, should have the ability to choose the best school for their children.

Now, this choice shouldn't be limited to just scholarship programs, but also includes school choice amongst public schools. Florida has 658 public charter schools serving over 314,000 students. Nearly 70 percent are Hispanic and African American, and over 50 percent are from low-income families. What are the results? Well, based off the 2019 National Assessment, the NAEP results, our education department calculated that if Florida's charter school population was its own state, it would rank number two in the nation for fourth grade reading, it would tie for number two in the nation for fourth grade math, it would rank number one in the nation in eighth grade reading, and it would tie for number five in the nation in eighth grade math, showing that when we increase educational choice and provide innovative learning opportunities, we can help students reach their full potential.

Now, results matter and accountability is needed, but the framework of Common Core was seriously flawed, and even parents with advanced degrees can't understand their kid's math homework, we have a problem that we have to address. Now, Commissioner Corcoran has spent the past year working with stakeholders throughout the state of Florida—parents, teachers, you name it—to develop a superior approach that will focus on strong standards, high quality curriculum, streamlined testing, and a renewed emphasis on American civics. We will be unveiling that whole new approach in the coming days, but I would like to say just one thing about one of the keys to our replacement for Common Core. It will be having a renewed emphasis on American civics and understanding the US Constitution.

This means understanding the source of our rights and means understanding the theory of the Declaration of Independence, understanding the structure of the Constitution, as well as key amendments such as the Bill of Rights, the post-Civil War amendments, and the 19th Amendment. This also means developing an appreciation for how these enduring principles animated key points in American history, such as the fight for independence more than 240 years ago, such as the leadership of President Lincoln during the Civil War, such as the activism of the suffragettes who succeeded in securing voting rights for women, an anniversary we celebrate this year. The defeat of Nazi totalitarianism during World War II, the crusade led by Dr. King for civil rights for African Americans, and the titanic ideological struggle against and eventually defeat of the tyranny represented by Soviet Communism.

In the final State of the Union address for President Washington, he said, "A primary object should be the education of our youth and the science of government. In a republic, what species of knowledge can be equally important? And what duty more pressing than communicating it to those who are to be the future guardians of the liberties of the country?"—to which I respond Amen.

Now, speaking of the Constitution, when I became governor, I was charged with filling three vacancies on our Supreme Court here in the state of Florida. Now, in our system of government, courts play an important role, but it's a role that must remain judicial in nature. When courts exercise legislative authority, they pervert the Constitution and undermine the rule of law. I was mindful of choosing justices who understood the proper role the court is to, in Alexander Hamilton's words, "Exercise neither force, nor will, but merely judgment." And I'm pleased to report that the appointments were well received, so much so that two of the three have already been promoted to the US Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit, and they are both with us here today. We have Judge Barbara Lagoa and Judge Robert Luck. Where are they at? There they are.

On behalf of the State of Florida, I want to congratulate you both on your new posts, and I want to wish you continued success. And clearly they are going to still be doing great things for the people of Florida on the Eleventh Circuit. And to our remaining justices, don't worry, reinforcements are coming soon.

With the Speaker and President leading the way, the 2019 Legislative Session witnessed major reforms in the area of health care from expanding access to telehealth to repealing antiquated regulations. Now, one major initiative that the Speaker mentioned in his comments earlier today was to provide access to cheaper prescription drugs by bringing in safe, name-brand drugs from foreign markets such as Canada; the exact same drug, just a much lower price. Now, this can only be done with federal approval, and I'm happy to report that the Trump administration is moving forward with the applicable regulations. There is still a long way to go, but the fact that we are even discussing this is a major development in this area, and Florida has been the one to lead the way.

I'm also happy to report that the work of the Legislature in bringing transparency to health care is starting to bear fruit. The patient savings concept enacted last year was based on the idea that reducing healthcare costs requires one, price transparency and two, a way for patients who use that information to actually save money. And I'm happy to report that the State of Florida has implemented a patient savings plan for its employees and has already realized millions of dollars of savings. If we can help make this type of plan widely available throughout the state, we could see many millions of dollars in savings for patients, and we need to proceed and get that done.

Now, building a culture of life requires us to champion adoption, and Florida is doing much better in this regard. Thanks to the hard work of Secretary Poppell and his team at the Department of Children and Families, who made a concerted effort to eliminate barriers for 3,600 children waiting adoption, DCF was able to reduce the number by 32 percent, making more than 1,100 children who were able to find a forever home. And this was done using the existing resources but by identifying efficiencies, engaging in collaboration with partners and stakeholders, and leveraging the best we can those existing resources. We're working hard to make the adoption process as transparent and user-friendly as possible so that every child can find a loving home. And I also hope that the Legislature will send me this session the parental consent bill that was debated last year, passed by the House but not passed by the Senate.

One other update on last session's good work: The legislation addressing fraud and abuse of assignment of benefits is already producing results. Citizens Insurance has revised its rates because of the impact of the bill, resulting in nearly 44,000 additional policyholders receiving rate decreases. The number of AOB-related lawsuits involving Citizens has dropped as well from over 500 in June of last year to only 148 in December, and early indications are that similar effects are being observed across the private market. Our legal system is supposed to be used for redressing concrete injuries and disputes. It's not a game and shouldn't be used as such. Reforms such as AOB that improve the legal climate here in Florida are most welcome.

Now, hurricane recovery has been a priority for my administration. In January of 2019 I asked Director Jared Moskowitz, who expedited reimbursements to affected areas of most recent hurricanes, and the agency has distributed more than 1.4 billion dollars to the communities impacted by Michael, Irma, Matthew, and Hermine. The Legislature also approved an additional 25 million dollars for Hurricane Michael grant recovery program because that was a major storm and deserved a major response. It's been effective. It's allowed our administration to address local needs in a nimble and targeted fashion. We have a couple folks from northwest Florida here today than we've been willing and able to help because of your efforts. We have Sheriff Morris Young from Gadsden County. And we have Bryon Hughes from the Mexico Beach Fire Department. Now, we were able to use this program to help Gadsden County plug major budget shortfalls, and our support of the Mexico Beach Fire Department arguably saved it from going out of existence. So, this was a major storm. Great progress has been made, but a storm of that magnitude is a long-term effort. So, I ask that you re-up this grant program for another year.

Now we came close to getting hit with another major storm, Hurricane Dorian. I was headed for Florida and the emergency managers throughout the state, from the county level to Jared and his team at the state level, and to our federal partners at FEMA, sprang into action. We were hoping for the best but we were prepared for the worst. I want to thank everyone involved in the preparation for their efforts. The storm made a 90 degree turn to the north less than 100 miles from our coast. I've never seen anything like that. I'm just glad that I did make that trip to Israel in May where I was able to pray. And so, I would be remiss if I didn't thank the big man upstairs for any consideration He may have had for us during that close call.

When Christopher Columbus set sail in 1492, his ship the Santa Maria carried the flag of Queen Isabella. The flag depicted a castle with the words Ne plus ultra, meaning nothing further, because at that time Spain was considered the farthest point west in the entire world. When Columbus returned and reported his discoveries he made in America to the Queen, she immediately ordered that the flag be changed. The new flag read Plus ultra, meaning more out there. Well, in this season of opportunity, we can say there is more out there to achieve for our state, and there is no reason why we can't seize this moment and deliver for the people of Florida.

God bless you, and thank you.

Following his address, Governor DeSantis was escorted from the Chamber by the committee. The members of the Supreme Court were escorted from the Chamber by the Sergeant at Arms of the House. The Lieutenant Governor and Cabinet members were escorted from the Chamber by the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate.

Motion

On motion by Senator Benacquisto, the Joint Session was dissolved at 11:58 a.m., and the Senators were escorted from the Chamber by the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate.
